

Adam Isler

Stephanie Gueffroy, Dianna Kinnard

Charlie kreiner, Bionca Abbod

Purpose/Problem Statement

Purpose of the Course:

The purpose of this course is to get us high school taught writers out of our bad habits that were presented to us in high school. This course alone gets a person ready for college-level writing and also shows kids what to expect from college classes. The main purpose of this course is to help us become better writers in a way that we will be taught to use new ideas to evolve our writing skills. Also this course is going to give us a new aspect to writing by showing us the proper way to write without having to us a specific “fill in the blank” kind of form. Lastly this course is going to teach us how to “like what we write” so that we show that we are passionate about the topic.

Purpose of the Assignment:

The purpose of this assignment is to help people realize the differences in their education and how the education system works. It will also clarify how class affects the type of education you receive. Also this is show or teach us how to compare our own thoughts or insight on a topic to an experts judgements. This is also going to show a lot of people what types of “walls” each class puts up to keep other classes out. Lastly this assignment is going to give us our first chance at letting go all the bad habits we learned throughout high school.

Problem Statement:

The problem with this is that what makes one class so called “better” than the other and receive a better education? Also why are the teachers of these schools following these rules that are set for them? Doesn’t everyone deserve the best education? Do people ever realize that they are getting treated differently than others? If this is everyone’s problem then why don’t more people know about it? How can the system be changed to improve it? Don’t we think it’s the teachers right to know that there instruction is class based? Lastly what separates a class from another class? And if so why does it have to be this way?